Rusk; Gromyko to Meet for Discussions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko may meet in New York in about 10 days for the first high-level talks on U.S.-Soviet relations since new leaders took power in Moscow last month.

Soviet diplomats here say Gromyko presumably will attend opening sessions of the U.N. General Assembly, as he has in past years.

Rusk plans to go to New York primarily to hold talks with foreign ministers present at the assembly meetings. The General Assembly will open in mid-November.

A sharp U.S.-Soviet clash is in prospect over Russia's refusal to pay assessments levied for U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Under U.N. Charter provisions, the Soviet Union stands to close its assembly vote because its debts are more than two years old.

The United States is insisting that the charter requirement be strictly enforced, and a bitter fight over this issue could cloud U.S.-Soviet relations.

Apert from the payments dispute, there have been signs from both Moscow and Washington of some desire to improve relations and further ease East-West tensions, perhaps by concluding some new agreement in the disarmament field or on new matters of practical cooperation.

Within the week the United States and the Soviet Union signed in Moscow an agreement to cooperate in research on the desalinization of sea water. On that occasion Gromyko told U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler that the Soviet Union would do its utmost to solve existing problems between the two countries.

The former president described Robert Welch, president of the John Birch Society, as "an irresponsible publicity-seeking person."

Some of Welch's statements, Eisenhower added, should be "taken with a laugh, if not complete disbelief."

Eisenhower was among those receiving the awards from the Order of Lafayette.

Negotiators Shrug Aside Walkout

By CHICAGO (AP)

Negotiators shrugged aside a wildcat strike of shop workers on the Long Island Railroad today and continued mediation efforts to solve a work dispute which threatens a nationwide stoppage Monday.

There even was some optimism, despite the unauthorized strike action of L.I.R.R. craft locals which delayed thousands of Manhattan-bound commuters.

Francis A. O'Neill of the National Mediation Board said that separate meetings "went all right" Thursday and reported "good progress." O'Neill said he met all day and into the night with the parties, but declined to elaborate on what was accomplished.

The six shop craft unions have turned down a presidential emergency board's proposed pay increases. Some 140,000 members are set to strike at 6 a.m. local time Monday if no settlement is reached.

A union spokesman said such a strike would halt service on the 187 railroads and terminal switching companies which handle more than 90 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

Agriculture Prime Target of Russia

MOSCOW (AP)

In his first trip to the hustings since taking command of the Soviet Communist party, Leonid I. Brezhnev said today that a steady increase in agriculture is "our prime nationwide task."

Speaking in Tashkent, capital of the central Asian Republic of Uzbekistan, Brezhnev also called for improvement in the quality of consumer goods.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, published excerpts from Brezhnev's first speech outside Moscow since he replaced Nikita Khrushchev as first secretary of the party Oct. 14. Brezhnev went to Tashkent for the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the republic, a cotton-producing area.

State Personal Income Gain Is Highest

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

Arkansas' rate of personal income gains may be the highest in the nation in 1964, the Arkansas Business Bulletin said in its November issue.

The bulletin said the state's personal income this year is expected to reach $3.18 billion, an increase of 6.5 per cent, compared to the national average of slightly more than five per cent over 1963.

The University of Arkansas publication said the current rate of gain is lower than the 7.3 per cent increase experienced by Arkansas in 1963, but is about the same as the state's average rate of growth during the past five years.

The amount of increase, however, is an estimated $194 million, compared to the average annual gain of $168 million during the past five years.

This year's income growth in Arkansas is due primarily to a combination of more non-farm jobs and higher wage rates. The bulletin said, non-farm payrolls for the first nine months of 1964 were up an estimated seven per cent over the first three quarters of 1963.

Reliable estimates of the state's 1964 net farm income are not available yet, the bulletin said, but crop production and pricing estimates indicate that it will be from three to five per cent above that of 1963.

Retail spending to date this year has been consistent with higher personal income level, the publication said.

Retail trade increased 6.7 per cent during the first nine months over the same period in 1963 and bank check payments were up six per cent, the bulletin said. The publication gave this thumbnail sketch of the current Arkansas business picture:

Non-farm employment: Non-farm jobs were up 1.5 per cent during the third quarter this year over the same period of 1963. The state's third-quarter rate of unemployment was 3.9 per cent of the labor force, compared to the national average of 4.7 per cent.

Farm production and income: Third quarter total cash receipts of Arkansas farmers were down 16 per cent over the same period of 1963, but livestock receipts were up 2.1 per cent in spite of seven per cent lower average prices. The drop in cash receipts was attributed to a later than usual harvest.

A record high annual net farm proprietor income of from $365 to $370 million is predicted, 3 to five per cent above that in 1963.

Construction: Third quarter construction contracts were 14 per cent above the 1963 period. Spending: Retail trade in third quarter rose 4.7 per cent above the 1963 level.

Banking Activity: Third quarter bank check payments were up nearly 12 per cent over the average of the past two years for the same period.

The bulletin is published by the Bureau of Business and Economic Research, a division of the university's college of business administration.

Americans Will Pay Tribute to Late President

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — In churches and synagogues and by the light of the eternal flame that burns at his grave, Americans will pay tribute Sunday to President John F. Kennedy on the first anniversary of his assassination.

In Boston, in Dallas, across the sea in Rome, prayers and memorial ceremonies will recall the grief of the day when Lee Harvey Oswald gunned down the 46-year-old president as he rode by motorcade through cheering crowds of Texans.

President Johnson, elevated to his office by Kennedy's death and confirmed in it by a landslide vote 18 days ago, will attend an interdenominational memorial service at the University Methodist Church in Austin, Tex., tomorrow afternoon.

In Washington, a Solemn Mass will be said in St. Matthews Cathedral, where statesmen and emperors gathered last Nov. 25 for Kennedy's funeral.

In Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Kennedy's close friend who presided at both his wedding and funeral, will offer a commemorative Mass in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross for the nation's first Roman Catholic president.

The Mass in Washington will be said by Fr. John J. Cavanaugh, former president of the University of Notre Dame and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., the late president's brother, will be among those in attendance.

In Rome, two religious ceremonies are scheduled — a Mass in Santa Susanna Roman Catholic Church and a special remembrance service at St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church.

The Jewish Theological Seminary plans to present "A Tribute to John Fitzgerald Kennedy" on its "Eternal Light" radio program on NBC Sunday at 12:30 p.m. EST.

Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, named to the high tribunal by Kennedy, will speak at two memorial services here — in the morning at Temple Sinai and in the afternoon at Beth Shalom Congregation.

In Dallas, Mayor Erik Johnson asked clergymen to remember the late president in their sermons. But he said it would be inappropriate to hold a public memorial ceremony because the anniversary falls on the Sabbath.

New Marvel of Engineers Opens Sat.

NEW YORK (AP)

The newest engineering marvel — the 4,260-foot Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, world's largest and heaviest single suspension span — opens to traffic Saturday, linking Staten Island with Brooklyn.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new bridge — its main center span is 60 feet longer than the main span of San Francisco's Golden Gate — were held Aug. 13, 1959. The bridge cost $350 million to build, is nearly three miles long, has two traffic levels of six lanes each, and can be seen at sea on a clear day from 40 miles out.

The bridge contains 145,000 miles of bridge wire. Its roadbeds are held up by four cables, each a yard in diameter and made up of pencil-sized wires of the strongest steel ever devised. Its preassembled roadway units weigh 40 tons each.

The bridge is 227 feet above the water. The length of its center span is almost three times the height of the Empire State Building (1,472 feet), the world's tallest building.

The Appalachian Trail Hike, Journey of 2,025 Miles, Had to Be Carefully Planned

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Star Feature Writer

(Part Two of a report on a 2,000 mile hike.)

When Garnett Martin, a former resident of Hope, Wyoming, and Colorado, started his adventure from Georgia to Maine last April, he had the whole trip carefully planned. He knew the necessity of this, for he and nature would be pretty close companions for the next six months.

That, apparently, was his reason for making the trip. Of one mountain he writes: "A very interesting climb over this mountain. There were a series of peaks before reaching the summit. All were bare and open top with beautiful views into the valley. On one of the peaks I camped in the open — was near dark. Just spread my tent, sleeping bag inside, down in the low blueberry bushes and moss (note: blueberries must be quite different from blackberries in their thorn construction) and looked up at the clear blue sky — a beautiful picture. Wind was blowing strong and very cold. Next morning the lower half of my tent was iced over inside and out. Ate breakfast in bed."

The pack Mr. Martin carried had to include everything needed but still be as light as possible. The average weight was 40 pounds and included his tent, a sleeping bag, and food. The latter was mostly of the dehydrated variety. The usual camper's fare of powdered milk, chocolate, and canned beans was used by this hiker, but he also had such unusual things as powdered bananas and glucose imported from Norway. Occasionally, he had a meal from people he met along the trail. Such was the case when a woman tourist gave him a 10 inch trout and some bacon that meant a breakfast fit for a king. Most of his food was sent by mail with so much delivered at planned stops along the way.

His descriptions of "bare cliffs of rock broken now and then with a growth of scrub brush" and of "boulders larger than houses" makes a reader of his letters wonder how he ever made the trip, which must have been perilous many times. One such occasion was made vivid when he wrote: "Several times I took my pack off, tied a long rope to it and pushed it ahead, so I could squeeze through the narrow passages — one slip and into a deep hole below. Green covered rocks, growth of various mosses, made it more difficult. Fair weather, but cold." (The last word was underscored three times.)

According to travel folders, the Appalachian Trail is the ultimate in blazed trails. From the communications received by friends in Hope for this "gem" of a hiker, he is in full agreement. He likes the state in which he arrived last month and plans to stay about a year.

No pun was intended in that last sentence, but it was true no matter how you define

Girl Steps Off Bus, Hit by Automobile

Jo Ann Scott, 17-year-old Negro student of Guernsey community, was critically injured about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when she stepped down from a school bus about eight miles west of Hope on Highway 67 and was struck down by a car that kept going.

She suffered a fractured skull and a broken leg and remained in a critical condition in a local hospital today.

State Policeman Earl Orr stopped the hit and run car at Prescott and arrested Danny J. Sowards, 16, of 1624 Woodward St., Little Rock. Passengers in the car were his mother and two small children. Sowards remained in Hempstead County jail today. So far only charges of hit and run and leaving the scene of an accident are filed against him, Deputy Sheriff Herbert Griffin said.

Ruby Trial Record Completion Soon

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)

Short-hand reporters expect to complete a typed record of the Jack Ruby murder trial this week, A.D. Jim Bowie, district attorney, said Thursday.

When the record is completed, Bowie said, clerks will send it to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin and it will set a time for hearing arguments from lawyers.

The appeals court must decide whether Ruby got a fair trial when a jury sentenced him to the electric chair for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Marina Oswald in Hospital

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)

Doctor's Hospital said today that Marina Oswald, widow of President John F. Kennedy's assassin, "had a good night and is resting comfortably."

The slim, Russian-born blonde was admitted to the hospital in northeast Dallas Wednesday complaining of stomach pains.

Asked for further information on Mrs. Oswald's illness, attendants today said, "That's all we are allowed to say now."

Her attending physician said Thursday that Mrs. Oswald was "not seriously ill" but probably would remain in the hospital for several days.

Stuttgart Firm Charged by NLRB

WASHINGTON (AP)

The National Labor Relations Board said Thursday that Stuttgart Shoe Corp. engaged in unfair labor practices in 1963.

The United Shoe Workers of America (AFL-CIO), which filed the complaint, lost a unionization election 66-36 at the plant on Dec. 20, 1963.

The NLRB board upheld the decision of Trial Examiner Benjamin B. Lipton.

LIR Strike Delays Many Commuters

NEW YORK (AP)

A strike by non-operating employees of the Long Island Railroad delayed thousands of Manhattan-bound commuters up to 1½ hours today.

The strikers set up picket lines which kept operating employees from reporting for work until they learned that the walkout was wildcat and unauthorized, a spokesman for the railroad said.

Supervisory personnel meanwhile had been rushed into the road's yards and to service and prepare trains for trips into the city.

Car inspectors, coach cleaners, machinists and other maintenance workers began their walkout as the nation's busiest commuter line headed into morning rush-hour traffic.

The strike, termed a wildcat by the railroad spokesman, came in the face of a federal court strike-restraining order issued Thursday against the six shop unions.

The walkout also came three days in advance of a national rail walkout scheduled for 6 a.m. Monday.

There was no explanation why the shop unions jumped the gun. The railroad spokesman said pickets were posted at many LIRR passenger stations on Long Island, starting point for most of the 175,000 commuters carried daily. Of these, 85,000 are round-trip commuters and 90,000 are single-fare passengers.

The spokesman said the delays stemmed from confusion on the part of operating personnel, who didn't know immediately whether to cross the picket lines, and also from supervisory personnel having to handle maintenance work.

The maintenance crews belong to Systems Federation No. 156, a group of several shop unions.

The railroad spokesman termed the strike "illegal."

National officials of the Systems Federation in Chicago reportedly warned union leaders here that a strike call was unauthorized.

The restraining order issued in Brooklyn by U.S. Dist. Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo directed the six nonoperating unions to show cause at 11 a.m. today why they should not be enjoined from striking.

Demands Removal of Minister

WYNNE, Ark. (AP)

The Forrest City District Methodist Men adopted a resolution Thursday night demanding that a Fayetteville minister who allowed a Communist to speak on his church property be removed.

The resolution condemned the action by the Rev. James Loudemilk, University of Arkansas campus minister, who allowed the University Foreign Relations Club to hear a member of the Bulgarian legation in the Methodist Student Center.

The resolution passed 100 to 5. It was to be forwarded to state Methodist officials.

Critical of Sponsors of Communist

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today issued a statement critical of those responsible for the speaking appearance of a Bulgarian Communist official in Fayetteville.

"Without condemning those misguided enough to give aid and comfort to the communist cause by such invitations, I must state that this action appears to me to be completely incompatible with our policy of opposition to the Communists in Viet Nam, Cuba, Laos, The Congo and other places around the world," Faubus said.

"It appears to me to be completely incompatible for a religious leader to afford communist leaders and opportunity to propagandize our own people, especially our youth, with ideas that are completely contrary to those which any religious leader professes to espouse," the governor added.

The statement was issued by the governor's office. Faubus was elsewhere in the capitol, working on budget recommendations for consideration by the state Legislative Council.

Faubus said the Constitution guarantees the right of free speech, and thus, "we cannot deny the right of any person to speak to those who wish to hear him."

But he added, "I think it is regrettable and tragic that there are those who would give aid and comfort to the communist cause and ideology by their willingness to sponsor and hear representatives of the communist bloc at this time."

The Hungarian, Peter Vassilev, cultural affairs officer in the Bulgarian Legation in Washington, spoke Thursday night at the Methodist student center in Fayetteville after a club sponsoring his talk had been denied use of campus facilities.

Faubus pointed out that Vassilev "stated openly that the Communists do not believe in God and that their young people had been propagandized and trained not to believe in God and he also stated publicly in a forum provided by Americans that our own American forces would be driven from South Viet Nam."

The Soviet Union, as matters stand now, can meet none of these terms. Meeting all of them is utterly out of the question. Even if there should be a successful new palace revolution in the Kremlin by an alliance of Stalinists and military men, it could hardly hope to go back all the way to Stalin after the past decade of Soviet social development.

And it demanded a purge in the U.S.S.R. This was implicit in its warning that there must be no "Khrushchevism without Khrushchev."

Budgets for 9 Agencies Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP)

The Legislative Council approved budgets for nine state agencies Thursday and then stopped work until Monday morning.

All of the budgets approved were the same as recommended by Gov. Orval E. Faubus, with two small exceptions.

The council added $600 to the Board of Pardons, Paroles and Probation budget to give director W. P. Ball a salary increase. It also added $1,000 to the History Commission budget, raising to $7,000 the amount earmarked as salary for an archivist.

These budget requests were approved: —Pardons, Paroles and Probation Board, $100,194 for 1965-66 and $99,194 for 1966-67. —History Commission, $50,915 a year for the next two years. —Apiary Board — $38,243 a year. —Cancer Control Board (federal funds), $64,406 a year. —Disabled Veterans Service Office, $6,324 a year. —Veterans Service Office, $72,270 a year. —Child Welfare Division of Veterans Service Office, $14,100 a year. —Cancer Control Commission, $43,063 a year. —Commemorative Commission, $45,800 a year.

Red China In Ultimatum to Soviet Union

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Red China has delivered its ultimatum to the Soviet Union: plug up the holes in the Iron Curtain or the Communist movement will be irrevocably divided into two camps.

No other construction can be placed upon a 3,000-word statement from the theoretical journal Red Flag broadcast by Peking today. As matters stand now, it means the Soviet-Chinese dispute not only will continue, but probably will grow more intense.

Peking, in breaking a sullen silence on its reception of the new regime in the Soviet Union, probably has thrown a scare into the Communists of both Eastern and Western Europe.

Almost openly, Red Flag was asking for a continuing and thorough going purge in the U.S.S.R. to weed out all those Communists who supported Nikita Khrushchev's policies, and to return to Stalinism. This would be bad news for the Communist-ruled countries of Eastern Europe, and equally bad news for West European Reds for whom Stalinism had proved a heavy liability.

The Chinese statement was a recitation of Peking's terms for playing ball with Moscow within a unified world Communist movement, but the terms are just about as tough as they can be. Indeed, if the Chinese conditions were met, the present regime of party chief Leonid Brezhnev and premier Alexei Kosygin in the U.S.S.R. could not last long.

Peking heavily assailed virtually all the domestic, Communist party and foreign policies developed in the Khrushchev era.

In almost so many words, Peking demanded that Moscow reassess and reinstate Stalinism. It demanded an end to cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States and virtually demanded abrogation of the Moscow treaty partially banning nuclear tests. It demanded that the Russian once again anathematize President Tito of Yugoslavia and toss him out of the Communist family. It demanded that policy of the Soviet 22nd Party Congress dealing with consumer goods development and the theoretical course of Soviet Communism be scrapped as hopelessly "revisionist."

And it demanded a purge in the U.S.S.R. This was implicit in its warning that there must be no "Khrushchevism without Khrushchev."

The Soviet Union, as matters stand now, can meet none of these terms. Meeting all of them is utterly out of the question. Even if there should be a successful new palace revolution in the Kremlin by an alliance of Stalinists and military men, it could hardly hope to go back all the way to Stalin after the past decade of Soviet social development.

Pope Rejects Proposal by Americans

By BENNETT M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has rejected an American-led move in the Vatican Ecumenical Council to obtain an immediate vote on the assembly's controversial religious liberty declaration, Vatican sources said today.

The sources said the Pope's decision was announced by Eugene Cardinal Tisserant in the council this morning, final working day of the 1964 session of the Roman Catholic gathering.

It was Cardinal Tisserant who announced Thursday that the council presidency, a steering committee of 12 cardinals, had decided not to hold a vote on the declaration at this session.

American bishops, joined by Canadians and some Europeans, then sent the Pope a petition signed by 1,400 prelates. Without a vote, the declaration lies over until the council reconvenes, possibly in 1966. In the interim conservative opponents hope to scuttle the declaration.

"DEAR ABBY"

STRICTLY BUSINESS, LADY!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am a divorcee with two teenaged children. For the past six months I have been seeing a lot of a man who is also my financial advisor. He has been like a father to my children. He is married and has three children of his own. Ours is a platonic relationship and nothing more. He spends many evenings in my home, and quite often it is 2 and 3 a.m. before we realize it. I would not want to cause him any trouble at home, but he has told me that he didn't have much of a marriage before he met me so I shouldn't feel guilty. If I suggest that we talk business only at his office, he'll be hurt. And besides, I would miss him terribly. Yet when I think of his wife and family my conscience bothers me. Can you advise me?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

Dear Nameless: Give this "platonic relationship" another six months and it will be another one of those "it-hust-happened" affairs. See him at his office. The kind of business that finds a married "advisor" lounging around a divorcee's home at 2 and 3 a.m. can lead to moral bankruptcy.

Dear Abby: My husband sleep in his underwear, but that's not my problem. Sometimes if he can't sleep he will go into the living room and watch television and then he falls asleep on the couch. Our daughter came home late with a date one night and when she turned on the light in the living room, there was Pa asleep in his underwear. You can imagine how embarrassed my daughter was. He reads your column, Abby, so maybe if you said that some people should have a little more respect for other people, it might help.

LOUISVILLE

Dear Louisville: On the nights your daughter has a date, impress on your husband the importance of sleeping in his own bed. If he's really bull-headed, buy him a nice pair of pajamas and try to get him to wear them. Or would he rather provide his daughter with a good excuse for not coming home at all?

Dear Abby: I am engaged to

Carbon Monoxide Proves Fatal

man was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning and another in critical condition near here today.

Coroner Otis Dillinger said the two men were found in a parked pickup truck on a county road about three miles south of Newport.

Dillinger said the victim, Joe Butler, carried papers giving both a Poplar Bluff, Mo., and Little Rock address. Hospitalized was Charles Bradley, 50, of Tuckerman, he said.

The doors on the truck were locked, Dillinger said, and he had to force his way into the cab. The coroner said an unidentified woman living in the area notified him of the two men being in the truck.

The Story: Inspector Blake Morgan continues his search for Richard Emery, suspected of numerous mail box and one post office robbery. Emery is also suspected of stealing checks in Chicago, where Blake has trailed him and a man who cashed one of the stolen checks identifies a photo of Emery.

XI

It was shortly after two o'clock when I got back to the main office. George Dundy was still at his desk, but it looked as if the pile of papers was lower than it had been. He glanced up as I came in.

I dropped into the chair beside his desk. "How's your work going?"

"Pretty well. I've polished off 10 reports and I think I've got a new lead on one of the new cases. By the way, this came for you while you were out."

He took a TWX sheet from his desk and handed it to me.

It was what I'd been waiting for. The list of men who had been friendly with Emery in prison and were now out. Two of them were in New York — and one of those was Joe Balk, as I'd guessed. There were three in Chicago, two in San Francisco, and one in Philadelphia. Five of the men were on parole and three had served their full sentences. One of the parolees was Balk.

There was a sentence at the bottom. It said that Captain Carter had called and left word that Balk had been let out on bail.

"Something that helps?" he asked.

"It might," I said. "This is a list of men with whom Emery was friendly in prison. They're all on the outside now. One of them in New York tried to slow me up so it's possible that some of the others may help Emery. Three of them live here."

"You can go back and finish some more of your work," I said. "I'm going to check the three names out with the cops and then call it a day. I'll get together with you in the morning."

The police station was a big, old building. Inside, it looked, and smelled — like every other police station in the country. I don't know why it has to be true, but you could lead me blindfolded into any police station and I'd know where I was. A sergeant directed me to Lieutenant McGruder.

I walked down the hall, and found the fourth office. I opened the door and stepped in.

The man behind the desk was in shirt sleeves, his tie loose, a gray coat slung over the back of his chair. The air was full of smoke and the ash tray on his desk was piled high with butts.

I took out my wallet and handed it to him, open to my identification. He studied it for a couple of minutes and handed it back.

"From New York, huh?" he said. "What can I do for you, Inspector?"

"I'm looking for a man. I know he came to Chicago a week ago and that's about all I know."

"What's the charge?"

"Robbery of mailboxes, forgery, robbery of a post office, murder."

He whistled. "That's a pretty good record. Name?"

"Richard Emery."

"Doesn't ring any bells. Mug shot?"

I pulled out my picture of Emery and handed it over. "He also broke," parole when he came here."

He looked at the picture and shook his head. "Don't recognize him. If you want to leave this here I'll have some copies run off and pass them out to the boys."

"All right, as long as I get it back," I said. "He's already busy here."

He looked more interested. "Yes, I got an identification this morning. The Dearborn Bar. He cashed a money order there that was taken from the post office in New York."

"Who cashed it? The bartender?"

"Yes. He's already squealing like a stuck pig."

"They always do." He ground out a cigarette and lit a fresh one. "You say he came here a week ago?"

"Yes."

"There's something else that might fit in," he said slowly. "In the past four days, 15 offices have been broken into. The only thing taken in each case was the company checkbook. Company checks are worth a-

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers who tuned in Thursday night to CBS may have been surprised — well, sicker is more like it, — to find pretty little dancing Leslie Caron playing the sleepwalking scene in "Macbeth." If they were shopping around the dial earlier, they may have happened upon Maurice Evans, the eminent Shakespearean actor, playing a warlock, which is a male witch, in ABC's comedy "Bewitched."

That's the way things are these days in television. You just can't depend on people to stick to their public images. It's been that way ever since Milton Berle stopped telling jokes to play unhappy dramatic characters.

Miss Caron, of course, was just doing the Macbeth bit as a gag on "An Hour with Robert Goulet," a very curious variety special.

It started with a sketch about a backstage conference on what kind of a show to build around the singer. In real life, they never did come to a decision because it was a hodge-podge of formal production numbers, a couple of ad libbed interviews with Goulet, some tapes made during his appearances in night clubs and on the Ed Sullivan Show as well as some other songs.

Evans, a most distinguished performer, didn't have much to do on "Bewitched." Most of the noon," he said.

It was a very simple message. It said: "Joe sends his regards."

I napped for about an hour. Then I went out and took a cab to police headquarters. The lieutenant had left the photograph for me with the desk sergeant. I took another cab back to the neighborhood where Pete Jackson lived.

I found the poolroom with out any trouble. I went in and ordered a beer. I sipped it and looked around. There were about a dozen men in the place. None of them looked like Emery, but I had no trouble spotting the man the lieutenant had described to me. He was alone at a pool table, knocking the balls around. I walked over and watched him.

"Like to play a game?" I asked finally.

"I might," he said casually. "What kind of game?"

"Nine ball?"

"Sure."

He got the diamond-shaped rack and began to put the first nine balls in. "How much?" he asked without looking at me.

"Twenty-five," I said.

"Cents?" he asked scornfully.

I smiled. "I was thinking of dollars. Of course, if that's too steep."

"It's okay," he said quickly. He took a half dollar from his pocket. "Call it for the break."

"Heads," I said.

He flipped the coin and it came down on the pool table. It was tails. He picked it up and chalked his cue and made the break shot. It was a good break dropping one ball and leaving the others pretty well in the open.

He ran five more balls finally missing an easy ball on the seven ball. Now there were only three balls on the table, the seven, eight and nine, all in good position.

"Well, I blew that," he said. He sure had — and deliberately.

"I don't know," I said. "The game isn't over yet." I sank the seven and eight, then deliberately missed on the nine leaving it directly in front of the pocket. The only way he could miss it was to miscue.

SIDE GLANCES

Losers Were Winners for Single Night

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Political

losers were winners for a night in this port city, taking the spotlight at an extraordinary banquet staged in their honor.

The affair was such a success that even the winners went home smiling, although they spent three hours Thursday night seated at ordinary tables among the 600 guests.

The losers occupied the head table, of course, basking in the applause and the laurels denied them at the polls in the Nov. 3 general election.

There were 10 losers and 26 winners — 16 won uncontested races — in the Savannah area in local, state and congressional races. All but 7 attended "The Losers Are Winners" banquet sponsored by the Savannah Area Chamber of Commerce.

It was the brain child of the Chamber's Public Affairs Committee, headed by Chairman S. Joseph Ward. Some said the occasion was unique, at least in acting on that show anyway is done by the special effects department of the studio. They make people disappear in a burst of flame or a cloud of smoke. Inanimate objects fly around madly. And according to the ratings, the public loves every minute of it.

Evans, however, was most attractive as he snarled and snorted at Elizabeth Montgomery, his daughter in the show, and stood by looking haughty as vases shattered and books flew around the room.

The losers and the winners didn't have anything to say, publicly, and that was a shock to other politicians present.

But Dr. Carl S. Winters of Chicago discussed the free enterprise system and described the unusual banquet as one of "healing significance."

Bobcats Take District 4-AA Crown With 32-0 Victory Over Badgers

Hope Leads District With a 7-0-1 Record; Season Is 10-1-1

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sportswriter

The Bobcats slaughtered the Arkadelphia Badgers 32-0 last night in Hammonds Stadium and secured their second District 4AA crown in a row.

A disappointingly small crowd watched the Cats stifle the Badgers at every turn and even turn to fun and games during the final quarter of the year's worst mismatch.

The only defeat handed the 1964 Bobcats was a severe one, 35-6, by the AAA Texarkana Razorbacks in the season's opener. They compiled an overall record of 10-1-1, and a conference total of 7-0-1.

After the game, it might be said that a wet time was had by all. In the course of their merry-making, the jubilant Bobcats hauled Coaches Howard, Glaze, Ballard, and Mitchell into the showers. They were thinking of the same fate for Coach Ed White, but then thought better of the idea.

A small core of the more devoted Bobcat fans forsook their warm firesides to brave the chill winds and support the Cats in their final encounter of the season.

The Bobcat seniors served as captains for the game. They were: QB Buddy Jordan, QB Vince Massanelli, HB Johnny Samuels, HB Jerry Burnett, FB Jerry Waller, C Terry Powell, C Dick Willis, G Tommy Still, T Harry Ray McMahon, T Paul Guerin, and T Richard Lang. Jerry Waller, on crutches because of last week's Nashville game, served as spokesman for the group.

The Badgers won the toss and elected to receive. It didn't do them much good. They were forced to punt to the Cats.

Hope's first possession of the ball was a profitable one. Burnett returned the punt 30 yards to the Hope 42. Two plays later, Massanelli went to the airways with a 45 yard TD bomb to Stan Parrish, who tumbled in the apply on the 30 and sauntered on in. Burnett's PAT was good, and Hope led 7-0 with just over three minutes gone.

Arkadelphia again gave up the ball on a punt, and the Cats again cashed in. This tally was set up by a 69 yard pass from Massanelli to Larry May, who was hauled down just one step short of the goal line.

On the second play, Burnett boomed over the right guard to put Hope on the scoreboard 13-0. PAT attempt was wide.

Another threat by the Cats was stopped when Jordan's pass to Burnett in the end zone was batted away.

In the opening minutes of the second period of play, Tommy Still picked up a Tucker fumble on the 20 and raced for the goal. He only made it to the 13.

On the next play, Johnny

"Bird" Samuels fulfilled the pledge that he had made earlier in the day and flew the required 13 yards around right end for the TD. The Bobcats led 19-0 at this stage of the game.

The Badgers had a little trouble getting anything going, so they made the decision to punt out of their troubles. A low pass from center and a little butter on the punter's fingers gummed up the works, and Hope took charge at the 22.

In three plays they moved in to the 8. On first down Massanelli circled right end and fell across the line. Burnett booted the point after, and the score was 26-0.

Arkadelphia got to touch the ball for one play, but then Parrish intercepted on his own 32 and carried back to the 44.

A long gainer on a pitchout to Burnett and a 15 yard penalty against Arkadelphia for unsportsmanlike conduct moved the Cats to within striking distances. Burnett knifed across from the 2 for the score. Point after was off to the right and the scoreboard showed 32-0.

Still recovered a fumble on the Badger 33 with 29 seconds left in the half. Long gainers by Burnett and Massanelli moved Hope in to the 2 before time ran out.

At the half, Hope had rushed for 200 yards and passed for 28 more to give them a total offense of 328 yards. The Hope defense had kept the Badgers pretty well caged. On 36 carries from scrimmage they had racked up a grand total of minus 24 yards. The fullback Tucker was the only man on the team that wasn't in the red for rushing.

It was only after Hope had not their subs into action that Arkadelphia was able to rack up their first down of the evening. The entire third quarter was a battle back and forth across the 50.

Midway in the fourth period, the ball came took on a somewhat different aspect. To use the words of that great football sage John Andrews, the four Horsemen and the Charging Seven took over. To translate for those of you not familiar with such football jargon: Guerin, McMahon and Lang became the running backs and the backfield took linemen's duties.

To add a little spice, they ran out of a swindling rate with ends Willis and Still both split away out. Guerin caught a pass for nine yards and then ran for three. McMahon had carries of nine and four, but a penalty cost him the longer run. Night Train Lang galloped for five yards on his chance.

Burnett attempted two field goals in the closing minute, but both were wide and the final score was 32-0.

In the individual rushing: Jerry Burnett led with 10-82. Vince Massanelli was 5-61. Gene Thompson 4-27. Johnny Samuels 3-26. Freddie Masterson 2-26. Buddy Lang 2-25. Ronnie Ingram 4-23. Bobby Samuels 3-16. Richard Lang 1-5. Harry Ray McMahon 1-4. Paul Guerin 1-3. Mike Westbrook 1-2. and Sammy Strong 1-(-3).

10 Killed by Ambush in Viet Nam War

By PETER ARNETT
BOI LOI FOREST, South Viet Nam (AP) - Viet Cong guerrillas emerged from a network of subterranean tunnels today where they had lain hidden all week and slammed into two Vietnamese paratrooper battalions.

The paratroopers, attached to huge "Operation Brushfire," which had proved uneventful, were resweeping this tangled abandoned rubber forest when the Viet Cong "literally rose out of ground to hit us," one adviser said.

During the bitter tunnel

Methodist minister, offered the church's campus center as a site for the speech after the university refused to allow the speech in its facilities.

Bishop Paul V. Galloway, head of the Methodist Church in Arkansas, objected, but said that there was no action he could take to prevent the speech.

Loudermilk said that he offered the campus center in the interest of academic freedom.

"I'm not a Communist," he said. "But I believe a hearing should be granted even to a man who is in favor of a system of government not like our own - in the interest of academic freedom."

Galloway said Vassilev stood against everything the Methodist Church sought. Loudermilk agreed that communism opposed the goals of the church.

The bishop said Loudermilk's decision showed "a lack of good judgment."

Loudermilk, informed of Galloway's comments Thursday afternoon, replied that he didn't "want a running public fight with my bishop," but said he would not cancel the talk "because it would negate everything we've done in the interest of academic freedom."

fighting 30 paratroopers were wounded and 10 killed. The Viet Cong shot down a Vietnamese medical evacuation helicopter, carrying several wounded.

Only the pilot escaped alive from the craft, which exploded in a sheet of fire on impact.

"We found the badly burned pilot and a burned hand, that was all," said Capt. Carman Negaard from Lawton, N.D., who is an adviser to the 3rd Airborne Battalion.

With casualties rising and the going getting increasingly tougher, the 3rd Battalion moved to the edge of a forest in a defensive perimeter while another airborne battalion warily scouted the jungle.

Other infantry battalions were moved up to the battle area about 35 miles northwest of Saigon. It was in the same region that a ranger battalion was cut off by the Viet Cong during an operation last New Years eve and suffered high casualties.

The clash with the Viet Cong around Boi Loi Forest was the first significant engagement of Operation Brushfire, launched Tuesday with 7,000 Vietnamese ground troops. But there was little promise of success.

"There are just too many tunnels," Negaard said. "We just can't root them out of there."

Looking haggard and unshaven after four days in the jungle, Negaard told newsmen: "We have killed two Viet Cong, both of them when they were cornered in dead end tunnels."

"We have followed many others down them, but they escape through hidden side exits. And when we emerge from these tunnels they pop up and shoot us."

Some of the subterranean tunnels that lace the whole forest area are three levels deep, Negaard reported.

He said the Vietnamese medical helicopter was shot down by a machine gun hidden somewhere in a tunnel.

Elsewhere in Operation Brushfire, the situation was fairly quiet.

Communist Talks Despite Protests

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Objections by University of Arkansas officials and the Methodist bishop of Arkansas didn't prevent a Communist official from speaking on campus and in a Methodist building here Thursday.

Peter Vassilev, cultural affairs officer in the Bulgarian Legation in Washington, made two unscheduled talks to government students and English students on university grounds Thursday.

Thursday night he addressed about 300 persons in the Methodist Center on the campus.

Vassilev's talk was mainly concerned with the history of Bulgaria and its foreign policy now.

Oh LORD, OUR GOD,

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN
